

To the members of the Dockets Management Branch:

I was shocked and appalled to hear of the FDA's approval of the use of high-level radiation to "treat" eggs, ostensibly to kill Salmonella. Obviously, to approve such an environmentally destructive measure reveals that the priority of the FDA is to protect corporate interests.

The true problem lies in the horrendous conditions of the factory-like farms where these eggs are produced. This is the usual source of salmonella.

As a tax-paying citizen I implore you to repeal this approval.

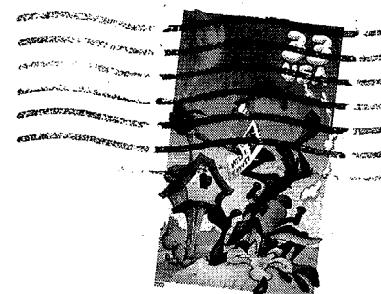

Thank you,

Kathy Jumon
